

The Journal of the Institute of Medical Ethics

The Journal of Medical Ethics was established in 1975, with a multidisciplinary editorial board, to promote the study of contemporary medico-moral problems. The editorial board has as its aims the encouragement of a high academic standard for this developing subject and the influencing of the quality of both professional and public discussion. The journal is published quarterly and includes papers on all aspects of medical ethics, analyses ethical concepts and theories and features case conferences and comment on clinical practice. It also contains book reviews.

Submitting manuscripts for publication

Papers submitted for publication should be sent in quadruplicate to: The Editor, Journal of Medical Ethics, 151 Great Portland Street, London W1N 5PB. Rejected manuscripts are not returned unless accompanied by a stamped addressed envelope, or international reply coupon. Papers should be in double-spaced typewriting on one side of the paper only. A total word count is appreciated. On a separate sheet a brief entry for 'Contributors to this issue' should be supplied, containing the title of the author's present post, degrees and/or professional qualifications, and any other relevant information.

Four copies of the journal will be sent to authors free of charge after their papers are published. Offprints of individual papers may be bought from Professional and Scientific Publications, Tavistock House East, Tavistock Square, London WC1H 9JR.

In March 1981 the JME adopted a simplified 'Vancouver style' for references: details are given in various issues, including this one, p55. They are also available from the editorial office. The full text of the 'Vancouver Agreement' was published in the British Medical Journal in 1982; volume 284; 1766-70. As the 'Vancouver style' is incompatible with the long established style of references for legal articles, lawyers should use their own standard style, but avoid abbreviations so as to facilitate reference by others. The journal is multidisciplinary and papers should be in clear jargon-free English, accessible to any intelligent reader.

Notice to subscribers

The Journal of Medical Ethics is published quarterly. The annual subscription rates are £29.00 in the United Kingdom and Irish Republic, and £50.00 in all countries overseas. Payment for overseas subscriptions should be made in sterling, payable to Professional and Scientific Publications/JME A/c. Orders can also be placed locally with any leading subscription agent or bookseller. (For the convenience of readers in the USA subscription orders, with or without payment, can also be sent to: Professional and Scientific Publications, British Medical Journal, Box No. 560B, Kennebunkport, Maine 04046. All enquiries, however, must be addressed to the Publisher in London). All enquiries regarding air mail rates, single copies, advertisements, etc, should be sent to: Professional and Scientific Publications, Tavistock House East, Tavistock Square, London WC1H 9JR.

Submitting manuscripts for publication

Four copies of papers submitted for publication should be sent to: The Editor, Journal of Medical Ethics, IME Publications, 151 Great Portland Street, London W1N 5PB. Rejected manuscripts are not returned unless accompanied by an adequately stamped addressed envelope, or international reply coupon. Papers, including references, should be in double-spaced typewriting on one side of the paper only. An approximate word-count is helpful. On a separate sheet brief details of the author's present post, an address for readers' correspondence and any other relevant information should be supplied.

The JME uses a simplified 'Vancouver style' for references. The full text of the 'Vancouver Agreement was published in the British medical journal in 1982; Volume 284; 1766/1770. As the 'Vancouver style' is incompatible with the long established style of references for legal articles, lawyers should use their own standard style, but avoid abbreviations so as to facilitate reference by others. The journal is multidisciplinary and papers should be in clear jargon-free English, accessible to any intelligent reader.

Authors are asked to avoid footnotes wherever possible. Articles for the journal should be between 600 and 3500 words in length except book reviews which should be between 300 and 1200 words. Abbreviations should be avoided. The names of journals, organisations etc should be given in full.

Four copies of the journal will be sent to authors free of charge after their papers are published. Offprints of individual papers may be bought from The Publisher, Journal of Medical Ethics, Tavistock House East, Tavistock Square, London WC1H 9JR.

Simplified 'Vancouver style'

All papers submitted for publication should contain the following:

1 On page one of the manuscript there should be:

- a) the title of the article which should be concise but informative and designed to attract the reader. The Editor reserves the right to change titles to achieve these ends.

- b) names, initials and academic degrees (if any) of author of authors
- c) names of department(s) and institution(s) to which the work should be attributed, if any
- d) disclaimers, if any
- e) source(s) of support, if any

2 On page two there should be:

- a) an interesting abstract or summary of not more than 150 words. Emphasise important and/or new aspects of the article to attract the potential reader
- b) key (indexing) terms – below the abstract, provide and identify as such, three to six key words or short phrases that will assist indexers in cross-indexing your article and that may be published with the abstract.

Where appropriate, use terms from the Medical Subject Headings List from INDEX Medicus

3 Acknowledgements:

Acknowledge only persons who have made substantive contributions to the study. Authors are responsible for obtaining written permission from everyone acknowledged by name because readers may infer the latter's endorsement of data and conclusions.

4 References:

Number these consecutively in the order in which they are first mentioned in the text, tables, and captions, by arabic numerals (in parenthesis). The list of references at the end of the paper should be numbered in the order in which each reference appears in the text. Try to avoid using abstracts as references. 'Unpublished observations' and 'personal communications' may not be used as references, although references to written, not verbal, communications may be inserted (in parenthesis) in the text. Manuscripts accepted but not yet published may be used as references – designate the journal followed by 'in press' (in parenthesis). Information from manuscripts submitted but not accepted should be cited in the text as 'unpublished observations' (in parenthesis).

References must be verified by the author(s) against the original documents.

The following scheme, a simplification of the 'Vancouver style' for biomedical journals, should be followed for each reference: in the text – number (in parenthesis); in the list – author (list all authors if six or less; if seven or more, list only the first three and add 'et al'), title, name of publication if different from title; place of publication and publisher (where appropriate); year of publication; and, where appropriate, volume, number and page references of article or chapter referred to. Examples of correct forms of reference are given below:

a) Standard journal article:

- (1) Paul E F, Paul J. Self-ownership, abortion and infanticide. Journal of medical ethics 1979; 5: 133-138.

b) Corporate author:

- (2) Conference of Royal Colleges and Faculties of the United Kingdom. Diagnosis of brain death. Lancet 1976; 2: 1060-1070.

c) No author given:

d) Personal author(s):

Medical groups associated with the Institute of Medical Ethics have been established in British university teaching hospitals. Each academic year they arrange programmes of lectures and symposia on issues raised by the practice of medicine which concern other disciplines. Although these programmes are addressed primarily to medical, nursing and other hospital students they are open to all members of the medical, nursing and allied professions. There is no fee for attendance. Lecture lists are available by direct application to the appropriate co-ordinating secretary named above. A stamped addressed A4 envelope would be appreciated.
