

Bioethicists, Sunnybrook Health Science Centre and The Toronto Hospital/University of Toronto Joint Centre for Bioethics

Sunnybrook Health Science Centre and The Toronto Hospital, in conjunction with the University of Toronto Joint Centre for Bioethics, invite applications for two bioethicist positions.

Sunnybrook Health Science Centre and The Toronto Hospital are teaching and research hospitals, fully affiliated with the University of Toronto.

Sunnybrook Health Science Centre is committed to high standards of excellence and a philosophy of patient focused care. Sunnybrook's major programs are Cancer, Heart, Trauma, Aging, Mental Health and Community Programs.

The Toronto Hospital is one of the largest acute care teaching hospitals in Canada, with a total of 1,200 beds on two sites. A full range of health care services is provided in all specialties, with a particular focus on Cardiac, Neurosciences, Oncology, and Transplantation programs.

The bioethicist's major responsibilities will include research, education, and clinical ethics. The bioethicist will pursue a program of scholarly research. Applicants with research interests in resource allocation or genetics are especially encouraged to apply.

The successful candidate will have a professional degree or doctorate in a field relevant to bioethics; a strong record of scholarly accomplishment; clinical experience; and be eligible for an academic appointment to the relevant University of Toronto Faculty or Department.

Salary will be commensurate with experience.

These positions are not restricted to Canadian citizens.

In accordance with its Employment Equity Policy, the University of Toronto encourages applications from qualified women and men, members of visible minorities, aboriginal peoples, and persons with disabilities.

Applications for this position will be accepted until October 18, 1996. The appointment is expected to commence as of January 1, 1997.
