

The Journal of Medicine and Philosophy

"Contemporary medicine and philosophy are . . . at the moment in their intellectual histories when each needs the other to redress an internal imbalance. It is the context, the quality, and the perimeters of this new engagement of medicine and philosophy that . . . is the raison d'être of The Journal of Medicine and Philosophy."

—E. D. Pellegrino, editor

ENRICHING THE QUALITY OF LIFE

concerns both philosophers and professionals in the medical sciences. New developments in medical technology and advances in research on treatment of diseases have complicated the role of value considerations in medical decision-making. The Journal of Medicine and Philosophy provides scientists, researchers, educators and physicians, with a forum for exploring this complex relationship.

A REPRESENTATIVE ISSUE

Philosophical Sources of Medical Morality (March 1979)

Contents

Robert M. Veatch, Professional Medical Ethics: The Grounding of Its Principles

Donnie J. Self, Philosophical Foundations of Various Approaches to Medical Ethical Decision Making

Edmund D. Pellegrino, Toward a Reconstruction of Medical Morality: The Primacy of the Act of Profession and the Fact of Illness

Lisa Newton, A Framework for Responsible Medicine

John Ladd, Legalism and Medical Ethics

Daniel M. Fox, The Segregation of Medical Ethics: A Problem in Modern Intellectual History

David Hartman, Moral Uncertainties in the Practice of Medicine: The Dynamics of Interdependency from a Halakhic Perspective

Most journal issues are organized around a central theme and are guest-edited by specialists in the area.

SPECIAL THEME ISSUES IN 1980

include discussions of cultural aspects of medicine; ethics of education in the health profession; theology and medicine; suffering, empathy, and compassion; and causality in clinical medicine.

THE UNIVERSITY OF CHICAGO PRESS

The Journal of Medicine and Philosophy

Published quarterly for The Society for Health and Human Values

One-year subscription: Institutions $17.00 Individuals $13.60
 Students $10.20

Add $2.00 for subscriptions mailed outside the USA and its possessions.

Name _____

Address _____

City _____ State/Country _____ Zip _____

Master Charge or Visa accepted. Please enclose account number, Interbank number (Master Charge only), expiration date, and signature. Or mail with your check, money order, or purchase order to The University of Chicago Press, 11030 Langley Avenue, Chicago, Illinois, 60628.

Jme 11/79

15 DISCOUNT

WITH THIS ORDER FORM