

Journal of Medical Ethics

Contents

Editorial

On telling dying patients the truth

115

Symposium

Medical ethics: some reservations

117

J D Swales

The ethics of society rather than medical ethics

120

Andrew Smith

In defence of clinical bioethics

122

John D Arras and Thomas H Murray

Response J D Swales

127

Main articles

The ethics of telling the patient

128

Lawrence Goldie

Of gossips, eavesdroppers, and peeping toms

134

Huw W S Francis

Debate

What price excellence?

144

T A H English

Medical ethics needs a third dimension

147

Lady McCarthy

Words

Clinical freedom

150

Gillian Matthews

Case conference

Obstructed death revisited

154

Roger Higgs

Contributors to this issue

156

Book reviews

157

Correspondence

162

News and notes

164

Lectures and symposia

165

Medical groups

167

Notice for contributors

168